A CULTURAL EXPLORATION LIKE NO OTHER!

LOS HERMANOS THE BROTHERS

Join Aldo López-Gavilán and Ilmar Gavilán for an unforgettable musical adventure that will resonate in your heart long after the trip concludes.

January 15-20, 2025

Cuba Rhythm and Views' business model from Day One has always been in support of the Cuban people. For us, it is about the art. We view ourselves as cultural ambassadors creating bonafide dialogue and understanding between our peoples. Thankfully there are hundreds of our CR&V alumni scattered throughout the country who feel the same way. From classical music to jazz, dance and the visual arts, CR&V reveals the challenging reality of the arts in Cuba that is remarkably different from anywhere else in the world.

We have witnessed the glimpse of hope that came with the political rapprochement in 2014, only to have it rolled back five years later. As the diplomatic relationship between the United States and the Republic of Cuba continues to degrade after more than six decades of embargo, our cultural and educational exchanges are among the few legal opportunities remaining for Americans to visit Cuba.

CR&V is honored to present this opportunity to experience Havana's arts, culture, people and nightlife with Aldo López-Gavilán and Ilmar Gavilán. Delegates will be dining in Havana's world-renowned privately-owned paladares and stay in the finest hotel, Grand Aston La Habana.

Aldo López-Gavilán & Ilmar Gavilán

Recognized as a child prodigy in Cuba, Ilmar Gavilán has had a distinguished career playing for world leaders from the Obamas to Queen Sofía of Spain. Based in N.Y. for 20 years, he won first place in the Sphinx Competition as a young adult, and helped form the Harlem Quartet to mentor young classical musicians of color.

As a soloist, Mr. Gavilán played concertos with the Atlanta, New Jersey, Baltimore, Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Hartford, Nashville, Phoenix, Denver, Louisiana, Tucson, Anchorage, Santa Fe, Havana, Mexico City, and Venezuela Symphonies and recitals in England, Russia, Spain and Portugal. He has performed at numerous chamber music festivals including Tanglewood, Ravinia, and Angel Fire, performing with Isaac Perlman and Arnold Steinhardt. He currently serves on the violin faculty at the Manhattan School of Music.

Jazz and Afro-Cuban music are also key to Mr. Gavilán's musical life. Along the way, Ilmar also developed improvisational skills and has performed and released albums with Paquito D'Rivera, Eddie Palmieri and Gary Burton, and Chick Corea, with whom the Harlem Quartet won its first Grammy in 2013. Mr. Gavilán has been presented in iconic jazz venues such as The Blue Note in New York as well as International Montreal Jazz, Detroit Jazz, Panama Jazz, and Saalfelden Jazz Festivals.

As a recording artist, Mr. Gavilán has numerous recordings with the Harlem Quartet. He won his second Grammy in February 2024. His U.S. solo recording debut "Aires y Leyendas" and a solo album "Por el Mar" solely comprised of music composed by his father Guido López-Gavilán, are available on Amazon and iTunes.

Aldo López-Gavilán was born in Cuba to a family of internationally acclaimed classical musicians, his father a conductor and composer, his mother a concert pianist. López-Gavilán made his professional debut at age twelve with the Matanzas Symphony Orchestra. Parallel to his classical abilities, López-Gavilán developed remarkable skills in improvisation. He was invited to perform in the world-famous Havana Jazz Festival with the legendary Chucho Valdés, who called him "simply a genius, a star."

Today "Aldito" is considered part of Cuba's jazz royalty. In addition to performing at international jazz festivals, he is also sought after by symphony orchestras around the world. In recent years Aldo has appeared as a soloist with Northwest Sinfonietta (Seattle), The Florida Orchestra, Milwaukee Symphony, Columbus Jazz Orchestra, Montreal Symphony, Boulder Philharmonic, Colorado Springs Symphony, Shreveport Symphony, Chicago Sinfonietta and more. He was a featured performer, along with Joshua Bell, in Seasons of Cuba, a PBS Special from Lincoln Center in December 2016.

Aldo has released ten studio albums, all successes with audiences and critics alike. His last release—Playgrounds—brings together a wide range of varied and eclectic musical universes. He has performed his recently composed piano concerto, Emporium, with several well known orchestras. Emporium has been recorded with the Tahoe Orchestra conducted by Ken-David Masur, and with the Boulder Philharmonic conducted by Michael Buttermann. The Boulder recording also includes the world premiere of his Clarinet Concerto with soloist Ricardo Morales. He has been commissioned to compose music for TV, films and other orchestras such as the one he recently did for Orpheus Chamber Orchestra and Arturo Sandoval that had its world premiere at the Carnegie Hall.

Arts Education

Cuba is committed to arts education from primary school to the university level. The flourishing music, dance and arts scene provides a solid foundation in the training students receive at the prestigious arts schools throughout the country. To see firsthand how artists and musicians are cultivated, we will visit both Conservatorio Amadeo Roldán and Ballet Litz Alfonso where you will experience Cuba's arts education system with private performances by students. In addition, you will have the opportunity to communicate with the students and their teachers in a round table discussion that will enlighten you on Cuba's robust arts education.

Cuban Jazz and Nightlife

In Havana, jazz thrives. Our patrons are not only immersed into Havana's jazz nightlife, but will be treated to private, one-on-one concerts from the best and brightest of Cuba's jazz elite, including pianist Aldo López-Gavilán. This unique exposure to one of the world's most active jazz scenes is a CR&V exclusive. You will better understand the day-to-day sacrifices as well as the financial and artistic challenges, including the difficulty of buying and maintaining instruments in Cuba.

Architecture and Historic Preservation

Some of the most exquisite historic buildings in the Caribbean are in Cuba. Havana celebrated its 500th anniversary in 2019. Despite 60 years of embargo, Cuba has managed to preserve and restore some of its most important heritage structures, neighborhoods and monuments. Using tourist dollars and financial incentives, much of Old Havana, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is gradually being rehabilitated to its former beauty. Our patrons will gain an insight into what it takes to gradually restore one of the New World's great cities, one building at a time.

In addition, a CR&V exclusive private show of original art for sale by Instituto Superior de Arte (ISA) professors and students is always on our itinerary.

Cuban Cuisine and Paladares

The growing movement of private restaurants, or paladares, in family homes is flourishing in Havana. This movement is at the vanguard of economic change and private ownership in Cuba. The best dining in Cuba is in paladares along the backstreets and alleyways of Old and New Havana. The restaurants are being reviewed internationally and Havanaphiles are slowly finding their way to these wonderful free enterprise culinary destinations. All of our meals other than breakfast, will be in paladares. And, for the meals not included in the package, you will be given the names and locations of Havana's best private restaurants, all within a ten-minute cab ride from the Grand Aston La Habana.

Don't take our word for it! Here's what people said about our recent trip:

I cannot tell you enough how incredible the trip was. I am using the word "transformational" with sincerity. The experiences continue to flood my brain...you put together an amazing trip for us.

—Susan O, Boulder, CO

From day one, we were given intimate glimpses into the hearts and souls of the dancers, singers, musicians and teachers who shared their lives with us. We have been on many "tours" to other countries but have never experienced anything as moving and beautiful as this.

—Thomas and Sally K, Tempe, AZ

Your efforts and attention to detail really made the trip a success. Planning, networking, flexibility and knowledge are your trademarks.

—Jim L, Seattle, WA

We have not stopped talking about it to everyone we have been in contact with these 2 days. This will be a beautiful memory for us for a long, long time...You two have put together such a special experience – we are proud to have been a part of it.

—Jody V, Carolina, Puerto Rico

Words are not adequate to express to you how much I admire all you do in Cuba ... for them and for us. Your dedication has so clearly made an enormous difference for all the cultural groups we were honored to hear, to see and to admire. You have created a true people to people experience.
